LONG-DRAWN-OUT FIGHT AT UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

Differences Between Professors
Chamberlain and Cardiff
Leave Them in Lurch.

The announcement of the appointment of Professor C. T. Vorhies to the chair of botany and zoology in the University of Utah by President Kingsbury, Monday morning, marks the close of a long drawn-out contest between the heads of the two departments now consolidated and placed under the control of one man. In the final summing up of the contest, it appears that neither Ira D. Cardiff, professor of botany, nor R. V. Chamberlain, professor of zoology, who have been so estranged during the past year that their interests have been brought into court, in victor, for both men are now without positions in the institution, and, as near as could be learned Monday afternoon, neither has any definite plans for the future. Both men have high scholastic attainments, and in their release from the institution no reproach is cast upon the character of their work, but conditions have reached such a point that the regents took drastic steps to settle the matter at a meeting held some time last week.

The action of the regents in appointing a new man to succeed Professors Cardiff and Chamberlain came as the result of several months of consideration. It is a well known fact that the affair between the two professors has been before the regents in one form or another at practically every meeting which has been held this year. Likewise the case has received considerable attention from the faculty and the students of the medical department.

The dismissal of both men came as a surprise to over half of the voting members of the faculty, as well as to the student body of the medical department. The estrangement between the two professors dates back to the latter part of the last school year, and possibly further. Professor Chamberlain was placed in charge of the establishment of the medical department of the University three years ago, when that department only existed in the minds of the regents. The department grew rapidly. Professor Chamberlain, as its head, took steps to secure additional help. Professor Cardiff was secured, but it appears, and has been since, that the two professors have been in a constant state of contention, and that Professor Chamberlain exceeded his authority in offering certain inducements to Professor Cardiff.

The unauthorized inducement which brought on the trouble appears to have been a promise by Professor Chamberlain that when Professor Cardiff was given an independent professorship his salary would be increased to $2000 a year. Last spring Professor Cardiff secured the appointment to the chair of botany, but the regents fixed the salary at $1800. The matter was finally taken to court. Friends on both sides declare that the other side obstinately refused to consider a settlement; the one claiming that the other forced the matter into the courts by refusing to set, and the other claiming that the opposite side would not settle the difficulty out of court. This proved to be the cause of action which was instituted by Professor Cardiff in September and for which he received judgment in December. The case was immediately appealed by Professor Chamberlain.

Friction between the two men, of a different nature and not entirely due to financial matters, arose even before Professor Cardiff received his appointment, but the only tangible facts are those brought to light by the court. Neither professor has any connection, even so much as a conversation, with the other. Professor Chamberlain was removed from the head of the medical department last spring because of matters which, his friends claim, were instituted by Professor Cardiff. The department was placed in the hands of Dean Cummings, but the interests of Professor Cardiff.

Students Aroused.
The affair between the two professors was brought into court. The regents took notice and investigated the same. But meanwhile every student in the medical school was following the case with a keen interest. Finally, as it dragged along with no apparent change, they became rather disgusted with the affair, realizing that certain features of the case were not presented to them. It was known about six weeks ago that the regents had served notice on the two belligerent professors that their departments were to be consolidated. Each professor, perhaps, rather thought that he might secure the new position as head of the two departments. At any rate, it is said that Professor Cardiff applied for the same. It is a known fact that the friends of Professor Chamberlain became active in his behalf.

Sixteen members of the faculty of the University, representing one-half of the voting members of the faculty, signed a testimonial in Professor Chamberlain's behalf. The other sixteen members who did not sign were divided between Professor Cardiff and a desire to keep out of the matter and hold down their jobs by not becoming too expressive in behalf of a professor under the regents' fire. The testimonial in favor of Professor Chamberlain from the faculty approved his conduct and his motives. But the regents pigeon-holed the statement.

Likewise, a statement commending Professor Chamberlain as an energetic worker was sent to the regents from the medical students. It was signed by all but one student of the medical school. It fitted snugly alongside the communication of the faculty in the final windup.

So far as the two professors and the University are concerned the matter ends. The consolidation of the two departments means that assistants will be

Solons Hold Up Two Saloon
Licenses; Other Business.

Labored under the impression that the proposed ordinance, increasing the police force to the extent of ten men, would be introduced, Chief of Police Pitt flooded the City Council Monday evening with communications relating to the department.

The communications of Chief Pitt, which were, in the main, promotions and appointments, were as follows:

John Roberts, first duty sergeant; J. H. Johnson, second duty sergeant; Dan Sullivan, third duty sergeant.
E. T. Rhodes, Peter Anderly, John C. Armstrong, Thomas Phelan, John G. Brill, Henry A. Calton, J. W. McKenna, C. S. Seale, E. J. Jennings and Carl G. Peterson, patrolmen.
William Anderson, C. W. Richmond, George Pugsley and J. S. Barlow, special policemen, without pay, from the city for the Denver and Rio Grande; George Meredith, special policeman, without pay from the city, at the Judge building.

The various communications were referred to the Committee on Police and Prison, without reading.

Hold Up Saloon Licenses.

The Finance committee recommended that the estimates of $10,324.76, in favor of P. J. Moran, for street paving, be paid, the city's portion amounting to $4270.41, to be transferred from the street fund.

The saloon licenses of H. Meyer, at 50 North Third West street, and R. A. Elmer, at the Cliff House, were held up and referred to the License committee, after the committee had passed favorably upon them. The license of the saloon at 50 North Third West street was revoked by Chief Pitt two weeks ago, and it was stated that the Cliff House needed looking after.

Not recommending the Board of Public Works, Strang & McGuire were awarded the contract for sewer extension 170, for $2487.23. This contract was originally awarded to Davis & Houser, but they declined to sign up, and forfeited their $100 qualified check which accompanied the bid. The bid of Strang & McGuire was $147.16 in excess of that of Davis & Houser.

H. Bennett et al. asked that the barn and sheds at 730 East Seventh South street be declared a public nuisance and ordered removed. Referred to Sanitary committee.

A communication was received from Senator Sutherland, inclosing copies of the bill which he has introduced in the Senate to give the city a perpetual right-of-way across the Fort Douglas military reservation for its conduit and pipe line. Filed.

George E. Smith et al. protested against the burning of garbage outside the city limits. Referred to Sanitary committee.

ZION BUSINESS SHOW A UNIQUE EXHIBITION

Complete Display of Office Appliances Attracts Much Attention.

No business man can be too busy to visit the Business show which opened Monday evening at 260 South Main street, where are displayed all of the most modern appliances for making office work easy and accurate.

Typewriters and type-writer desks, filing systems, desk fixtures, loose-leaf record books of all kinds, duplicating machines, book binders, card-filing systems, badge-making machines, and the thousand and one accessories of the well-arranged office, are on exhibition. Many of the things must be seen to be appreciated. There is an educational exhibit from the Y. M. C. A., which will be a great attraction to those who are interested in the work which is being done by that institution.

A wax-figures exhibiting contests have been arranged and will take place from time to time during the days following. The exhibition will be held throughout this week.

HARRY S. JOSEPH WILL MEET SAMUEL NEWHOUSE

Harry S. Joseph objects to a statement in an afternoon paper to the effect that he had been indicted since his return home. Mr. Joseph is now in the city making complaint against the United States Smelting and Refining company. In the afternoon paper it was stated that Mr. Joseph had been indicted since his return home. Mr. Joseph is now in the city making complaint against the United States Smelting and Refining company.

In the second place he says he has not seen Mr. Newhouse since his return home. Mr. Joseph is now in the city making complaint against the United States Smelting and Refining company. In the afternoon paper it was stated that Mr. Joseph had been indicted since his return home. Mr. Joseph is now in the city making complaint against the United States Smelting and Refining company.

Mr. Joseph also says that the Utah mine owners held a conference with the United States Smelting and Refining company in this city prior to Mr. Joseph's letter of March 2, at which the grievances of Utah shippers were aired. It is stated that this conference was arranged through the executive committee of the American Smelting and Refining company, of which Mr. Joseph is the chairman.

Therefore Mr. Joseph cannot understand why Mr. Guggenheim is unaware of any grievances on the part of Utah shippers.

Mr. Joseph will meet Mr. Newhouse next Thursday to talk over matters. The company asked permission to make arrangements with the Utah Light and Railway company to transport ties, rails and other necessary materials from the business end of the line to the east end of Fifth South and Thirteenth East streets, the freight to be hauled at night. The petition was granted, the hauling to be done between 11 P. M. and 1 A. M.

City Auditor Alf submitted an estimate for $24,899.76 in favor of James Kennedy for the intercepting sewer. Referred to Finance committee.

Residents of Superior addition complained that are lights promised to them had not been installed, and that the streets were in an almost impassable condition. Referred to Committee on Improvements.

The Board of Public Works submitted for approval a contract with the Dixon Engineering and Construction company of Toledo, O., for extension to the garbage crematory in the sum of $4750. Referred to Committee on Finance.

WAVE OF REFORM STRIKES COUNCIL

Three Saloon Ordinances Introduced at Monday Night's Meeting.

MR. MARTIN ASKS FOR MIDNIGHT CLOSING

Other Ordinances Are Directed Against Winereoms and Attachments.

That a reform wave of large dimensions has engulfed certain members of the City Council was evident Monday evening, when three ordinances relating to saloons and restaurants were introduced. Mr. Stewart was the father of two of the ordinances, while Mr. Martin was sponsor for the third.

The first ordinance introduced related to saloons and provides that no license shall hereafter be granted by the City Council to any person, firm or corporation until the place where said business is proposed to be carried on has been first inspected and examined by the Chief of Police. No license shall be granted if it shall appear by said report that such place has within it, or in any manner connected with it, a winereom, cardroom, lunchroom, booth, or any other inclosure or place, roofed or open, with or without doors, curtains, or screens of any kind, or if there is any such room, booth or inclosure, place or places to which access is or can in any way or manner be had from the place where said business is proposed to be carried on.

Midnight Closing.

On top of this came Mr. Martin's ordinance closing all saloons from 12 o'clock, midnight, to 6 o'clock the following morning, and also providing that saloons remain closed all day Sunday, or, in other words, from 12 o'clock Saturday night to 6 o'clock Monday morning.

The same Mr. Stewart's restaurant ordinance, which provides that no license shall be granted if it shall appear from such inspection and examination that said place has within it, or in any manner connected with it, any winereom or cardroom, or any booth or other inclosure, room or place, roofed or open, with doors, curtains or screens of any kind, or if there is any such winereom or cardroom, or any booth or inclosure, room or place, roofed or open, with doors, curtains or screens of any kind, to which access is or can in any way or manner be had from said proposed place of business.

The three ordinances were referred to the Committee on Municipal Laws. Should the ordinances pass their effect will be widely felt. Aside from the midnight closing clause, a large number of saloons that are now maintaining booths—some of them saloons of the highest class—will be compelled to take their booths out, and a number of restaurants and hotels also will be affected.

Another ordinance, introduced and passed, reduces the price of produce peddlers from $90 to $50 a year.

DENVER CHORUSES TO SING AT EISTEDDADF

Corresponding Secretary James
Returns With Encouraging Tidings.

John James, corresponding secretary of the Chamber association, returned Monday night from a ten days' trip to Denver, where he has been arranging for an attendance at the Eisteddof, which is to be held here on October 1 to 3. Mr. James reports that a great deal of interest had been aroused among the musical people of that city in the coming event and feels assured of a strong representation from Denver, Colorado Springs and other cities of Colorado.

Dr. Henry Housley, organist of St. John's cathedral at Denver, will bring a chorus of 125 voices, and may possibly also bring his Apollo club, a chorus of sixty male voices. There probably will be 200 people from Denver, besides those from other places. The fact that Dr. Housley has promised to bring his chorus augurs the success of the affair. The doctor won first prize at the grand choral contest at the St. Louis exposition in 1904, and has been in Salt Lake City on two occasions, when he carried off valuable prizes for the excellence of his work.

An organization was perfected which will have in charge the arousing of interest in the Eisteddof among the various musical societies of Denver. These two committees will work together for the purpose of raising funds, both by private subscription and by the giving of concerts, to bring the different musical organizations to Salt Lake. Arrangements have been made with the railroads for a low rate of transportation.
